PRESS RELEASE

24/7 STUDY SPACE @UZ LIBRARY

BREAKING NEWS: It's exciting news to UZ Community members as the Library launches an all "round the clock study space" in the Main Library basement.

ACCESS

The new 24/7 study space is open during Library regular hours and after hours. A valid UZ ID is required for entry into the area.

EQUIPMENT

The new facility has 100 all-in-one computers for online research, large desks for quiet studying, and a section for group studying.

WHY THE 24 HOUR STUDY SPACE?

The 24 hour Library access facility seeks to support the diverse study preferences and information seeking patterns of full time and part time students. In this 24 hour facility, students can check into the Library at any time of the day and access Library resources via more than 100 personal computers which are connected to the internet. Apart from computer facilities, the place is equipped with reading and discussion spaces which can be utilized by those who prefer working late at night or very early in the morning. The facility becomes handy as well for part time students who cannot use available facilities during the day. Furthermore, the facility augments the already existing off-campus access to electronic resources which can be accessed from the comfort of homes and offices.
